

Case Study: Children's Home Society

Building Signage Systems
To Your Specifications

Owner: Children's Home Society and Family Services

Designer/Architect: Cunningham Architects

Contractor: McGough Construction

Comments: This nonprofit charitable society provides a myriad of adoption services (international-local).

Cunningham Architects were challenged to create a warm and comfortable environment to make their clients, as well as guests, feel at home.

Cunningham was challenged to incorporate into the signage this warm feeling as well as to recognize the many donors who made the project a reality.

GSI took interior décor elements and used multiple in-house manufacturing processes to build a sign system that resonates visual appeal while maintaining functionality.